Weather plays heck with plans

GRANITE CITY — Plummeting temperatures were great for comfort but they played heck with school district decisions to extend heat schedules this week.

"We made our decision Sunday night when both Channel 4 and Channel 5 were telling us that the temperature today (Wednesday) would be in the mid-90s," said Granite City Superintendent Gilbert "Gib" Walmesley. "Unfortunately, it didn't work quite that way."

In fact, when parents first learned this week that the early-dismissal schedule would be extended, temperatures were in the comfortable 70s range. Walmesley said there was no way to know that Sunday night.

While temperatures change daily, District 9 policy calls for extending the heat schedule on an entire week basis, to cause less disruption for parents and others.

"That way they can arrange their baby sitting, transportation, and things on a weekly basis that they know won't have to change."

Walmesley pointed out that several other districts, including Madison District 12, also extended heat schedules. (See SCHOOLS, Page 8A)

EAST ST. LOUIS — Janice Brimberry was found guilty Wednesday in U.S. District Court here on both of the two counts against her in her trial for attempting to evade income tax and concealing assets from the Internal Revenue Service.

The jury deliberated for about three hours before returning its verdict before U.S. District Judge William D. Stiehl.

Brimberry is the ex-wife of Thomas Brimberry. The jury agreed with the government that she had attempted to conceal assets to evade payment of $19.5 million in taxes, fines, and penalties on the $16 million her husband and others looted from the defunct Stix & Co. brokerage in St. Louis about 10 years ago.

If convicted, she could be sentenced to a maximum of eight years in prison and fines totaling $500,000 in her trial in U.S. District Court. Sentencing has been set for 9 a.m. Monday, Nov. 19.

During closing arguments, Assistant U.S. Attorney Norm Smith compared Janice Brimberry to a child with its hand caught in the cookie jar. Only in this instance, the child was asked afterward, "Do you have any cookies left?"

The basis for the government's case was an IRS form Brimberry filled out on Nov. 12, 1967, in which she did not list a house she paid for on Washington Avenue in Granite City and about 25 items of precious jewelry later faces eight years confiscated by IRS agents.

On March 4, 1983, IRS agents secretly videotaped Brimberry attempting to sell two diamonds to an undercover IRS agent for $37,000 in a room at the Collinsville Hilton/Holiday Inn.

During the trial and in her closing arguments, Assistant Public Defender Renee Schooley tried to portray Brimberry as a "glib" and "naive" woman who took the word of a crooked accountant that it wasn't necessary to list her jewels and the house as assets on the IRS form.

Brimberry's accountant, Nathan Stein, of Stein & Associates in Clayton, is scheduled to stand trial in federal court in Missouri on a charge of trying to bribe an IRS agent. Stein was not called as a witness in the Brimberry case, although his lawyer attended at least one court session last week.

Prosecutor Smith also attacked testimony by Granite Citian Sandra Harper, who said she had bought the house in her name for Brimberry because Brimberry had told her that she couldn't get a loan because of the Stix scandal.

"She (Brimberry) could have paid cash for the house," Smith scoffed.

Smith also showed the jury copies of Brimberry's tax returns from 1975 to 1981, returns in which, according to the IRS, Brimberry vastly understated her income.

Someone who overstated their income in 1975 through 1981 could certainly do so in 1987," Smith said.

Referring to the attempted sale of jewels to the undercover agent, Smith noted that Brimberry had said on the secret tape recording that she needed cash instead of a check because she owed the IRS.

"Lying becomes habit forming," Smith told the jury.

In her closing arguments, Schooley reiterated that Brimberry was only doing what Nathan Stein told her to do in listing her assets. She referred to testimony by IRS Agent who told the court that a certified public accountant, such as Stein, "has a duty when before the IRS to inform a client of any omissions she may have made."

She also attacked the credibility of one of the government's witnesses, Edward "Len" Schere, who was the informant who set Brimberry up to sell the two diamonds to IRS Special Agent Hilda Molnar.

Testimony from several witnesses had established that Schere had a history of informing for several government agencies as well as a close relationship with Nathan Stein.

Schooley said Brimberry was so "trusting and glib" that she allowed Schere and Molnar to talk her out of her suspicions about a red light she thought she had seen inside Molnar's blouse during the sting operation. Molnar had testified that the light came from the concealed microphone she had worn. A tape recording played to the jury earlier in the trial had confirmed that Schere and Molnar had indeed been able to ally Brimberry's suspicions about the light.

Schooley said anyone that gull-

—Prosecutor Norm Smith

Schooley called Schere "a snitch" and said he "wouldn't know the truth if it came up and bit him."

She also noted that IRS Special Agent William R. Taylor had testified that Schere had violated several of the rules the IRS had laid down for him to follow in the Brimberry set-up, including contacting Nathan Stein twice, when he had been explicitly told not to do so.

Schooley said Schere had been arrested twice in connection with drug trafficking and both times had gotten out of it by turning government informant.

ible could easily have been misled by Stein into believing it was legal not to list the jewels on the IRS statement of assets.

Prosecutor Smith countered by asking the jury, "If an accountant tells you to rob a bank, do you rob a bank?"

In his instructions to the jury, Judge Stiehl told jurors that reporting zero assets on an official IRS form is "a material matter" and not circumstantial evidence.

Such IRS forms carry the warning that false information can subject one to a charge of perjury.

PVO tells of plans

GRANITE CITY — A St. Louis food manufacturer is expected to move into a new plant here next spring and eventually employ more than 150 people.

Under terms of a Madison County loan to the firm, more than half of the jobs are guaranteed to county residents.

PVO Foods Inc. is building a 65,000-square-foot plant on the former Union Starbuck & Refining Co./Miles Laboratories property on 19th Street west of the railroad crossing.

PVO manufactures margarine, shortening, cooking oil, salad oil and similar products for bakery and food service industries.

PVO President Don Black said he expects the plant to be in operation by April or May 1991.

PVO will transfer its operations and corporate headquarters from its plant on North Wharf Street in St. Louis. Black said that plant was built in 1940 and is inefficient.

The company also has plants (See PVO, Page 8A)

Incinerator, gambling under consideration

By Andy Siering

VENICE — A hazardous-waste incinerator and riverboat gambling could be in Venice's future.

At the City Council meeting Tuesday night, Mayor Tyrone

Echols told the council he had held conversations with representatives of companies interested in each of those ventures.

Echols said he had met with somebody from a company that builds incinerators that dispose of hospital waste and other hazardous materials. Echols declined to identify the company, but he said the representative had said the incinerator would employ about 30 people on a $1 million-a-year payroll and pay about $125,000 a year in property taxes.

Echols told the council, "I suggested to him that he come and meet with you."

Madison County Board Member Don Garrett said the company was the same one that tried and failed to get permission from Alorton and East St. Louis to build an incinerator there. He said that company was named Endico Development.

An official with the Alorton city government, however, said the company that tried and failed to build a medical waste (See VENICE, Page 8A)

Granite Citian to become next Miss Illinois

By Dennis Grubaugh
Managing editor

GRANITE CITY — Illinois' loss is Granite City's gain.

Homeowner Jaclyn Greer will become the new Miss Illinois in October, following Sunday night's crowning of Marjorie Judith Vincent as Miss America.

Greer was first runner-up to Vincent in the Miss Illinois Pageant in July. Greer competed as Miss Madison County.

Parents Jack and Melba Greer are understandably proud. "I think it's great, I have thoroughly enjoyed the last 12 years she's been competing," said Melba Greer.

Jaclyn Greer is now a flight attendant for TWA Airlines. She is living and working out of New York, was there Wednesday and could not be reached.

Greer was first choice of inheriting the Miss Illinois crown, according to Susan Chadwell, business manager for the Miss Illinois pageant.

"We had to go right down the line starting with first runner-up to see who among the runners-up wanted it. What we still have to do is have an official crowning in October."

That crowning is tentatively scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 13, at the Homestead Civic Center in Elgin, site of the early Miss Illinois Pageant.

There were several interesting twists with this year's Miss America Pageant. Vincent became the second black in succession to win the crown, following last year's choice of Deborah Turner, Miss Missouri. And she is the first Illinoisan to win since Judy Ford of Belvidere took the crown in 1969, Chadwell said.

Vincent, 25, is from Oak Park. "Marjorie is very well liked and it's going to be very exciting for all of us," she said.

Chadwell said Miss Illinois' duties are mainly appearance-related.

"Normally, what she does is go to parades and corporate appearances. Sometimes she's called upon to do her talent, sometimes it's signing autographs. When we do corporate shows, it's mainly signing autographs."

Greer's talent, by the way, is opera singing. Vincent's is classical piano.

Chadwell said many people have expressed surprise that Vincent won the crown, because she didn't have the typical "Miss America body," but more of a stockier build.

"She said going in that the only way she would win it was in the interview. And she did," Chadwell said. The pageant in recent years has gotten away from being strictly a beauty pageant, she said.

Because she is 25, Greer probably could not have competed in many more pageants, Chadwell said, thus making the new development all the more important.

Greer will be Miss Illinois until next June.

Anyone wishing to schedule public appearances for her after the October crowning should call Chadwell at (708) 960-1633.

Two arrested outside tavern with stolen guns

Two men were charged in connection with an incident Sept. 3 at Sammy's Tavern, 921 Niedringhaus Ave.

Arrested were Billy S. Lay, 22, of the 900 block of 24th Street and Danny C. Thomas, 25, of Caseyville. Witnesses on the parking lot of the tavern said Lay had threatened Martin Snider of Granite City with a revolver and a shotgun after Snider came to the aid of Connie Snider. Lay allegedly had choked and bitten her at the tavern.

Witnesses said Thomas grabbed a .357 magnum revolver away from Lay, who next pulled a 12 gauge shotgun from behind the seat of his pickup truck. Police then arrived.

Lay was booked for battery, aggravated assault, unlawful use of a weapon, possession of a stolen weapon and not having a valid firearm owner's identification card.

Thomas was charged with unlawful use of a weapon, possession of a stolen weapon and not having a firearm owner's identification card.

2 arrested with cannabis

Two Madison men were charged with possession of cannabis Sept. 1 after they were stopped on a vehicular violation.

Police said they halted the car because of a burned-out light on its license plate. Vance R. Burns, 18, of the 2000 block of Edwardsville Road and Edward H. Powderly, 18, of the 1900 block of Rhodes Street got out of the car.

Police alleged Burns dropped a bag containing 40 marijuana cigarettes onto the car's bumper. Officers then searched Powderly and reported finding a baggy in one of his shoes containing loose marijuana.

Burns was released on $204 bail and Powderly on $102 bail.

Man arrested for battery

Boyd Murie Clark, 30, of the 2900 block of Buxton Avenue was booked for battery when arrested at 9:30 p.m. Sept. 7 at his home.

Police went to the 2800 block of Buxton in response to a disturbance call and were told by Jim Byrd, 12, of the 2500 block of Grand Avenue that while he was playing near a friend's house, not far from the Clark residence, Clark asked if Byrd wanted to fight Clark's son.

When Byrd replied, "Not tonight," Clark allegedly grabbed the victim by the shirt collar and slapped him on the shoulder and back.

Byrd said he ran south on

Granite City

Buxton with Clark chasing him until the boy fell down in some loose gravel; a woman came out of a residence and told Clark to leave him alone, the victim said.

The resident told a patrolman she heard yelling and screaming, looked out of the window and saw an adult chasing a boy who fell down. She shouted to the man to "leave the kid alone" and the man shouted an obscenity back at her, she told officers.

After talking with other witnesses, police arrested Clark for battery on a complaint signed by Robyn Byrd, the boy's mother. Clark posted bail and was released, pending a hearing.

Police arrest landlord

William Kempler, 69, of the 2400 block of Cleveland Boulevard was booked for battery at 4 p.m. Sept. 7 following an incident at a residence he owns in the 2200 block of Edison Avenue.

Penny A. Burris, 22, of the 2000 block of Troy Avenue, Madison, told police she was in the process of moving out of the Edison Avenue building when Kempler entered and ordered her to leave.

Burris said she had started to comply but Kempler grabbed her by the arm and pulled her down a staircase, causing her to fall and hurt her back. She was taken by a woman friend to the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center to be examined after the injury.

Kempler posted $52 bail and was released, pending a hearing.

Ex-jailer sentenced, faces more charges

EDWARDSVILLE — A former Madison County jailer from Venice was sentenced Friday to five years in prison for probation violation in connection with an arrest May 21 in West Madison on drug, and weapons charges.

Richard King, 42, had been sentenced March 30 to three years of probation after he admitted selling crack cocaine to an undercover officer on July 6, 1989. He was suspended without pay last October and later discharged from his job in the Madison County Jail in Edwardsville.

King was arrested May 21 in the 900 block of Jackson Street when Madison County Sheriff's Deputy Jeff Bridick spotted him driving at 3 a.m., hours after he was supposed to be at home under terms of the intensive probation that had been imposed under the earlier conviction.

Bridick searched King and found a .38 caliber pistol on his person and about 40 grams of cocaine in the passenger's compartment and the trunk of his car.

King's probation was revoked for unlawful possession of a weapon by a felon.

He still faces charges of unlawful possession of a controlled substance with intent to deliver, simple unlawful possession of a controlled substance and armed violence.

The charge of armed violence is under a state statute that says it is a felony to have a gun in one's possession while committing another crime. In this case, the possession of a controlled substance, said Assistant State's Attorney Richard Rybak, who is prosecuting the case.

King was sentenced in Edwardsville by Associate Judge J. Lawrence Keshner. King's additional charges are scheduled on the Oct. 3 court docket.

Children hurt in crash

Two children suffered injuries Aug. 13 when a car driven by their mother was struck by another vehicle.

Injured were Tonisha A. Rodgers, both 8, of the block of Hampden Street, and their mother, Angela Rodgers, who was turning south onto Market off of westbound Broadway when they were struck by a car driven by David F. Mega, 24, of Collinsville.

Mega was issued traffic citations for failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident and operating an uninsured motor vehicle. The Rodgers children were treated and released at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

John 6: 29 "... this is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent."

The question has been put to Jesus concerning what we might do to work the work of God. The answer is amazingly simple! Jesus said in effect, believe on me.

It is said that we get ourselves so wrapped up in the cares of this life and miss the power of the gospel which is Christ.

Believe on Christ. Believe that He has the power to save, to heal, to fill with the Spirit of God. Confess this fact, live like you believe it, and you will see the power of God come alive in your life!

We may work the works of God if we believe on him whom God hath sent.

Salute to missing-in-action

Placement of memorials at 29 Illinois interstate highway rest areas is a fine idea. They are calling attention to 99 heroes designated as Vietnam-war prisoners or missing in action. Illinois AMVETS and the state government deserve applause for their roles in the program.

The memorial newly unveiled on Interstate 70 at Silver Lake near Highland lists servicemen from this region, including two Granite Citizens, Capt. James Causey and Warrant Officer James Dayton.

Lt. Gov. George Ryan, a Korean-war veteran, said at the Sept. 7 dedication ceremony in Madison County that the roadside memorial program is this state's way of saying, "We remember."

With some of the Vietnam-area military personnel now missing for as long as 25 years, President George Bush has declared Sept. 21 to be a national day of remembrance.

Renewal effort progressing

No, it wasn't a ballistic missile that caused the craters and devastation visible in the block bounded by Grand, Niedringhaus and Madison avenues and 22nd Street. It was progress.

Despite the appearance, and our criticism of the slowness of the EPA and the city to get the project moving, renewal of the block is taking place. Plans call for a QuikTrip store and a Jack in the Box restaurant to be built.

It was necessary for the city government to play an active role in the redevelopment, since the city's creation of an automobile dealerships area on Illinois 3 had led to the Novotny Chevrolet site being vacated, and since the presence of underground fuel tanks increased the difficulty of returning the property to positive use.

The project is now the way to a productive outcome. We salute that goal, and look forward to the day when the holes are filled, the businesses are built and the corner regains its past importance.

Watch for buses, children

With each new school year, motorists need to focus on the many school buses they meet and on the children walking to and from school. Many young pupils are confused about how to cope with traffic, and every driver should be especially alert to make sure a tragedy is avoided.

Illinois law requires motorists to stop before meeting or overtaking a school bus that has stopped to load or unload. A stop is signaled by flashing amber and red lights on the front and back of the bus and an extended signal arm.

On a street with at least two lanes of traffic in each direction, motorists are not required to stop when approaching a stopped school bus from the opposite direction. But they are advised to slow down and drive carefully.

School criticism unfair

We've heard several complaints this week that local school districts should not have extended their heat schedules another week. That criticism is not justified.

When a district must rely on anything as tenuous as the nightly weather forecast, it risks faulty decisions. That happened this week. Granite City and Madison schools both decided to have their students stay on heat attendance schedules because the weathermen told them it would be hot this week. It wasn't.

Perhaps some of these critics should try doing something about the weather.

Great headlines of past add entertainment value

Newspapers are entertaining, if for no other reason than they give people something to complain about, when they might otherwise be bored.

But newspapers of the past had an edge in entertainment, particularly in headlines, and especially when read by the generations that follow.

That thought occurred recently when, while going through some microfilm of Press-Record from the 1920s, I came up with a headline that said, "Rich Man's Son Arraigned Here." There was a time or two I wanted to use that one myself.

While my peers frequently take it on the chin for some of the stuff they come up with, headline writers of years past must have really suffered. Some of them left little to the imagination. I can guess the reaction when "Burned, Doctors Rebuilt Her" appeared in print in 1939, along with the headline, "Or when 'Baby Has No Arms, Legs are Deformed' appeared a few weeks later. And that was anybody's business, let alone news.

In papers of the past, even the trivial made Page 1. "12 Undergo Surgery at St. Elizabeth's Hospital," said one headline from September 1965. Today, the only way that story would make the front page would be if it said, "12 Mistakenly Undergo Surgery at St. Elizabeth's Hospital."

If the main purpose of a headline is to draw a reader to a story, then the headline writers of long ago were plenty successful. I'll admit I read this one from 1939: "Relief Method Used Here Has Disapproval of Chicago Press." How do you spell relief? You'd have to read the story. Or call the Chicago paper.

There were other dandies: "Governor Horner is Back on the Job, in Good Shape; Friends Joyous." The 1990 version of that would be: "Gov. Thompson on the Job, in Good Shape; Friends

Preserve Mexican heritage

To the editor:

On Sept. 16, Mexico will celebrate Independence Day as we in America celebrate our Fourth of July Independence.

I would like to remind the people of this area of Mexican descent of their heritage.

In September 1926, 64 years ago, there were a lot of immigrants in Granite City from all parts of the world. They came here to find a new life and a better place for their families.

Although for the most part they were poor and had little possessions with them, they held their heads high and went to work wherever they could.

These people had pride and they wanted their children to remember their heritage and the traditions of their homelands.

To make sure this happened along with teaching the new customs and ways, the ways of their homelands were handed down to their children.

The Mexican Honorary Commission was founded in September 1926 by Guillermo Oropeza and other founding fathers of Mexico to present for just that reason. They saw a need to protect their children's and grandchildren's heritage by forming a club with that purpose in mind.

They also wanted to keep the community a safe and good one. When anyone in the community was in need, the club helped out in any way it could.

I am of the opinion that the original bylaws of the club stated, "To promote our heritage and community."

The people of Mexican heritage are forgetting the traditions that their founding fathers wanted so desperately to preserve, so want to invite each one of you and your families to come back to MHC to attend the meetings and make your voices heard.

We can and will get back to the old ways of the club, with your help.

The Mexican Honorary Commission meets the first Sunday of the month at 1801 Spruce St., Granite City, at 1 p.m.

If you are not or never have been a member of the club you must attend the meeting as my guest.

You do not have to be Mexican or of Mexican descent to join the club.

RUBY YEARRA, Granite City

Firemen helped young victim

To the editor:

I wish to share with you and the community the story of Jason Klocke, 10 years old, residing in Edwardsville.

In February 1990, Jason was involved in an accident that changed his life. An unfortunate accident left him severely burned from his hips down to the calves of his legs, and from that day forward he has courageously strived to recover.

Burn injuries such as Jason's are painful and traumatic, both physically and psychologically, and the road to recovery is a long, narrow, treacherous one.

Jason, however, continued to battle against this painful and disfiguring injury, and we are happy to relate that he is the first youth to attend a special burn camp in Estes Park, Colorado, under the direction of the kind and caring staff of Children's Hospital of Denver.

This camp provides much-needed recreation and rehabilitation for children who have suffered injuries such as Jason's.

In an effort to make this venture successful for Jason, several organizations collectively pooled their resources together for one common goal.

The Southwestern Illinois Fire-

Article helped credibility

To the editor:

The other day I met a friend on the street who asked my age. I stated that I feel middle-aged and am sorry to say that I have to defend myself and always feel that way recently.

I am bothered by the attitude of some as expressed by Dr. Nancy Osgood, professor of gerontology, University of Virginia: "In society, there is a youth orientation with a negative attitude toward the elderly."

Some resent the middle-aged or elderly.

I will not apologize for my age and, as a philosopher stated, "I am what I am."

Profound thanks for your article "Quote-Unquote" in the Aug. 23 Press-Record issue pertaining to a writer/reporter's twisting of the words I used at one of our City Council meetings.

By making a correction, your recent article proved you are sincere and care. This adds to your integrity and credibility.

I can understand how reporters miss words used by speakers at council meetings.

At times, remarks made are not audible enough because of the acoustics.

People have told us that a better sound system, in addition to elimination of the background noise on the cable TV channel, would greatly improve the quality of broadcasting council meetings.

We hope some effort will be made to improve this situation.

Another side to joint-use plan

To all the communities and organizations that endorsed the proposed Scott Air Force Base joint-use airport.

Who knows what kind of funding St. Clair County will need to fund this project?

T.A.M.S., which did the study, says we could be as much as $267,000,000 in debt by the year 2005, with no inflation. This study also said no major airline was interested nor any package air express was interested in Scott as a stop.

Their study said it could be up to 15 years before the airport shows a profit.

After talking to people who endorsed the proposed Scott Joint-Use, they were unaware of the following:

No major airline is stopping at Mount Vernon, and consider all the industry there and that the old highways cross there.

Airline passengers in southern Illinois are down 50 percent since 1980.

St. Clair County has unlimited bonding. This means the county has no limit on how far it goes into debt.

St. Clair County Board members make decisions but no referendums are put on the ballot.

School districts in every community have seven local residents serving on a school board without pay. When they are to raise taxes for education, stadiums or more classrooms, there is a referendum put on the ballot to let the local residents vote on the particular issue.

So, why not put the question of Scott military-civilian joint use on the ballot, when T.A.M.S. told us we could be $267,000,000 in debt by 2005?

No one knows who will pay for building of the two Scott schools, the recreation area, Wherry housing, fishing lake, chapel, etc.

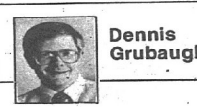

The study said Scott has several problems after heavy rains. Who will pay for their improvements?

At our last meeting at the college, it was quoted from reliable authority that air pollution standards are not being met in the Scott area now.

How much worse will our air quality be if an airport is put here?

Maybe some of our elected officials, city mayors, and transit districts can have an informational meeting for all the people to attend and update us on how we'll meet all the indebtedness we'll have in the future.

Don't harm veterans' benefits

To the editor:

Benefits and entitlements to veterans and their dependents have been cut at all levels of government.

The remembrance of this nation's veterans and their deeds on the field of honor stops after the cannons fall silent.

It seems the country wants to blame the soldiers for the unpleasantness of the wars in which they served. Currently, this nation has called to arms many sons and daughters who are being faced with imminent danger.

Newly discharged armed forces members and those not serving before 1976 are not viewed with the same eyes of the state of Illinois. Preferences for Illinois state jobs are Seniorama '90, a program for all area senior citizens sponsored by the Magna Group and Magna Security Club, will take place at Belle-Claire Fairgrounds in Belleville on Friday, Sept. 21, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The third annual Seniorama will offer 100 booths with a variety of exhibits on travel, housing, income, health and fitness, products and services. All seniors and caretakers are invited to attend with free admission.

There will be health screenings available and attendance prizes. Entertainment will be presented by the Merry Makers of Edwardsville, a kitchen band. Becky Kern's senior tap dancers, George Portz and "The Friends of Bluegrass" and the Jazz Incredibles, featuring Jean Kittrell, John Becker and David "Red" Lehr.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob (Jane) Lunk, former residents now living in Waterloo, visited friends in the area this week.

Helen Floyd, Mr. and Mrs. Lee (Leona) Hester and Mike Nickolich attended the Hester family reunion in Dover, Tenn., on Labor Day.

There were 50 family members present. They also enjoyed a tour of historical sites including Fort Donaldson.

Mr. and Mrs. Don (Doris) Forgy, former residents, have sent word from Fulton, Ill., to announce the arrival of Joshua Allen on Aug. 4.

The infant weighed 8 pounds, 1 ounce, and joins a brother, James, 1½.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jim (Doris) Forgy of Cahokia.

Paul Buford, Leona Hester and Helen Floyd returned home Sunday from a trip to Harrison, Ark., and Branson, Mo.

While there, they attended several musical shows and the "Shepherd of the Hills" production.

Mary Lou Johnson of Hammond, Ind., and Debbie Roth and Ben Johnson of Austin, Texas, are visiting their aunts, Mary Reed and Willow Mae Reed.

They are also visiting their father, David Johnson, who is ill at a St. Louis hospital.

Single Adult Labor Day conferences were held over the weekend in several states. Persons from surrounding states participated in the conference at the Adams Mark Hotel in St. Louis. A total of 700 attended.

Theme for the conference was "Every Single Word." A copy of the book of the same name was presented to everyone attending.

Harold Ivan Smith, a widely known single author from Kansas City, Mo., was the speaker. Music was provided by Bob Bailey of Nashville, Tenn., a Dove Award winner of gospel music.

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois' hopes of seeing riverboat casinos steaming along the Mississippi River by spring appear dashed by lengthy background checks necessary to screen applicants.

But assurance of an eventual floating casino on East St. Louis was given Monday when Gov. James R. Thompson signed legislation setting aside gambling licenses for East St. Louis and Will County.

The governor left the Illinois Gaming Board free to approve or reject the lone East St. Louis application, from Riverboat Development Corp.

Sponsors of the riverboat gambling law had hoped to have license applications approved this summer to allow boats in the water by Jan. 1, three months ahead of Iowa, which will have boats ready by April 1.

The Illinois Gaming Board has been reviewing the 100-page disclosure applications from each of the 10 applicants since the July 1 filing deadline.

"It's a lengthy process," Senate press coordinator Cindy Huebner said. "They're going over the background checks now and probably won't be issuing (licenses) before November."

State Sen. Denny Jacobs, D-East Moline, the law's chief sponsor, said he had hoped licenses could be issued shortly after July 1 to give the licensees six months to get their boats ready by Jan. 1 target date.

"That's (Jan. 1) still a possibility," Jacobs said. "Realistically, a majority of the boats won't be in the water before June."

Applicants paid a $50,000 fee. If chosen, they will be required to pay $25,000 for an initial three-year license, which will allow them to operate two boats.

The five-member gaming board will pick five of the applicants, by a majority vote. The applicants for the five initial licenses are: East St. Louis, Alton, Savannah, Moline, Cairo, Rock Island, Jo Daviess County in northwest Illinois (two), Peoria and East Peoria.

The bill establishing Illinois riverboat gambling became law in January 1990 after months of wrangling between Democrats and Republicans.

In addition to the five licenses this year, the bill allows for an additional five licenses to be issued next year. Jacobs said a deal was worked out between lawmakers at the time that two licenses would go to the northern part of the state — including the Moline-Rock Island area — and two would go to the southern part of the state — probably East St. Louis and Alton.

"I think (it will be) East St. Louis and Alton, in the absence of any problems with the applications," Jacobs said.

Those listed in the Alton application include Lance Callis, a Granite City attorney.

The gaming law allows the state to impose a 20 percent tax on the value of chips sold to gamblers, minus those cashed in.

Local governments where a boat is docked, such as the city of East St. Louis, will receive one-fourth of the gambling tax proceeds and an undetermined amount will go back to the state gaming board to administer the law. The rest of the gambling taxes will go to education.

When the law was passed, Jacobs said that riverboat gambling could generate up to $15 million for the state's educational assistance fund. However, officials with the Illinois Association of School Boards said then that the projection was unrealistic. They warned that the windfall would be unlikely to have a major impact on the education budget.

Sauget still in running

By Steve Horrell
Staff writer

SPRINGFIELD — With Alton and East St. Louis already invited to the state's only floating poker game — riverboat gambling — legislators recently agreed to deal another Metro-East player into the game.

When the riverboat gambling bill became law in January, the village of Sauget found itself locked out by a provision that prohibited towns with less than 2,000 people from obtaining a license.

In June, the General Assembly agreed to a $34 million bailout plan for East St. Louis. Among other provisions, the plan mandated a riverboat gambling license for that financially troubled city.

In exchange for a promise by Sauget not to compete with East St. Louis for a license, lawmakers agreed to drop the limit on small towns for 1992.

State Sen. Denny Jacobs, D-East Moline, the gambling bill's chief proponent, said the village can apply next year for a license, and it is regarded as likely to have a boat in the water by Jan. 1, 1992.

"They really took a slap alongside the head," Jacobs said in a telephone interview. "They were very accommodating to let East St. Louis go. We made an attempt to go to bat for them and, at least, it does help them a little bit."

Last year, the village of Sauget hosted the only public hearing on riverboat gambling in this area.

The East St. Louis bailout plan later received Gov. James R. Thompson's signature.

Ironically, if the state does not approve the idea of small-town licensing, Cahokia, which has not applied for a license, could benefit from an alternate plan with neighboring Sauget.

In order to get around the small-town ban, Sauget would need to cede riverfront property to St. Clair County, or to Cahokia, an approach discussed earlier in the summer by Sauget and Cahokia Mayor Mike King.

"If Sauget is interested, I'm interested," King said. "Businesswise, it would be to the village's (Cahokia's) advantage to get involved with it."

The deal would involve the sale of a business license to Sauget for about $2 million.

King said he and Sauget had discussed the use of an isolated road leading to the Mississippi River from Illinois 3. The road could be patrolled by the Cahokia Police Department, with access to the Mississippi River controlled by a traffic booth.

"It would be like going to a nice restaurant," King said.

He stressed that the road does not run through a residential area.

King said he would need to survey local opinion before a decision would be made.

"I'm open-minded to it," he said. "My feeling is — if it brings in $2 million, I'm interested."

He said at the kickoff, "As the United Way volunteer leaders in this community, we cannot ignore the problems of those less fortunate. Everyone deserves a chance at a better life, and this is not someone else's business. It's the United Way's business."

LEADERSHIP BY LEE and others has placed the local United Way in a position to go for its first "million-dollar goal" — $1,005,000, to be exact.

The target seems to be a lot tougher than the $400,000-plus goal when I was the drive chairman in 1973. But we achieved the objective then and also have been attaining the goals in more recent years, including more than $900,000 in the 1989 campaign led by Drew Karandeff.

In this discussion of Lee's family, it seems appropriate to also mention his "extended family," the team that has been assembled for this fall's fund drive, which Lee also refers to as a "fun drive."

IT WAS INSPIRING to see the caliber of the group that has rallied around the 1990 campaign.

When a technical problem prevented an audio-visual program at the kickoff breakfast, Lee and five other key leaders gave impromptu talks, citing examples of why a successful United Way effort is essential to the well-being of the area including Venice, Madison, Granite City, Pontoon Beach and Mitchell.

Maybe partly because their presentations had not been scripted and rehearsed, they were particularly effective.

Looking beyond the current drive, it is clear the Tri-Cities Area UW organization will not be lacking in leadership.

Lee family closely involved with local area throughout this century

When John E. "Jack" Lee III stood up to preside at last Thursday's United Way kickoff breakfast, thoughts went back to his grandfather and father, both now deceased.

Introducing himself as "Margaret's son" to not mentioning her extensive community service, Lee recalled that the first John E. Lee, the son of an Irish immigrant, was born in Illinois, became a medical doctor and located in Venice.

I never met him but recall that the busy physician served the Venice mayor during much of the first several decades of this century.

DR. JOHN E. LEE JR. I knew well. He was a dentist and also chairman of the First National Bank in Madison.

Like his father, he also became mayor of Venice, although the position was not easily attained.

In his first election campaign, "Doc Lee Jr." gained a hard-fought victory as three full tickets of candidates competed.

IT WAS DURING HIS administration that the municipal government acquired the McKinley Bridge.

The task required a lot of meetings in Venice and St. Louis. He is president-elect of the Madison, Bond, Jersey and Calhoun Counties Bankers' Federation.

JACK LEE III heads the 56-year-old Madison bank as chairman and president. He is the year's general chairman of the Tri-Cities Area United Way's drive to aid 23 service and character-building agencies.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexis Blood of Milton, Mass., are announcing the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Mary Jean, to Dr. Michael E. Yencho, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward (Mary Evelyn) Yencho of Granite City.

The wedding will be held on Oct. 13, 1990, at St. Agatha Catholic Church, Milton, Mass.

The bride-to-be is a 1982 graduate of Milton High School, Milton, Mass., and a 1986 graduate of Boston College, where she earned a bachelor of science degree in finance.

She is employed as a senior underwriter at Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. headquarters in Boston.

Her fiancé, who is serving with the U.S. Navy, graduated from Granite City High School North in 1978.

He graduated magna cum laude from St. Louis University in 1982 with a bachelor of arts degree in chemistry and biology and earned his doctor of medicine degree with honors from St. Louis University School of Medicine in 1988.

Yencho served his residency in pediatrics at Oakland Naval Hospital, Oakland, Calif.

He is currently staff pediatrician at Camp Lejeune Naval Hospital in Jacksonville, N.C., and recently was promoted to the rank of lieutenant command-er.

Wilhelmys celebrate 50th

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilhelmy of Madison celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Aug. 12, at a party given by Mrs. Wilhelmy's godchild, Richard Kube, in Benld, Ill.

Woodrow Wilhelmy and the former Pauline Hrysko were married in St. Charles, Mo., on Aug. 31, 1940.

Mr. Wilhelmy worked for Foster Brothers in St. Louis as a checker before retiring in 1978.

Mrs. Wilhelmy was employed as a secretary in St. Louis before retiring in 1970.

Attending the celebration were Edward Kube and his mother,

Catherine Kube, Kenneth and Barbara Kube and their children, Susan, Karen and David, from St. Charles, and Monica and Richard Kube from Benld.

A barbecue dinner was enjoyed and a decorated anniversary cake was served to the honorees and guests.

Games were played and gifts were received by the honored couple.

On Aug. 31, the couple renewed their wedding vows at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Madison.

The Rev. James Keefner officiated at the 8 a.m. Mass.

Macedonian leader dies

A figure well known to those of Macedonian descent died on Sept. 5.

Ivan Mihailoff, 94, was a Macedonian revolutionary who waged a lifelong struggle to free his native land on the Balkan Peninsula from domination by Greece and Yugoslavia.

Mihailoff died in Rome, where he had lived since 1947. He suffered a heart attack.

Since 1924, Mihailoff was the leader of the Internal Macedonian Revolutionary Organization. In 1934, a military dictatorship was established in Bulgaria and Mihailoff fled to Turkey.

Turkey, then at odds with Bulgaria, refused to extradite Mihailoff, who spent the rest of his life advocating Macedonian liberation from abroad.

During World War II, he spent time in Poland, Hungary and Croatia. After the war was over, Mihailoff continued his struggle for Macedonian independence, seeking help for his cause from national leaders and writing a book, "Macedonia — A Switzerland in the Balkans."

He promoted the idea of the creation of a country with guaranteed equal rights for all ethnic groups.

Why Bifocals?

We recommend Varilux eyeglass lenses for people who need to see from near to far without wearing bifocals.

Varilux has a sophisticated, patented design that allows focusing clearly at any distance. It does away with the "window" seen in bifocals and the awkward bifocal line. We have the experience and equipment to fit this advanced lens, and we invite you to come and see the difference.

Obituaries

Helms

Guy Helms, 64, of Granite City died at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 11, 1990, at Castle Haven Nursing Home in Belleville. He had been ill for eight years.

Mr. Helms was born Jan. 24, 1926, in Milwaukee. He had lived in Granite City for 50 years.

A veteran of the U.S. Army, he retired as a staff sergeant in 1964 after 20 years in the service. He was of the Protestant faith.

Surviving are his wife, Judy Helms of Granite City, one step-daughter, Crystal Ann Wilson of Granite City, and one sister.

There will be no visitation or services. His remains were cremated.

Memorials are suggested for the American Cancer Society. Werner Chapel for Funerals, Pontoon Beach, handled the arrangements.

Menendez

Helen M. (Norris) Menendez, 69, of Fairmont City died Tuesday, Sept. 11, 1990, at Memorial Convalescent Center, Belleville, where she had been a patient for the past 2½ weeks.

Mrs. Menendez was born July 21, 1921, in East St. Louis and was a retired meat cutter for the Hunter Packing Co. in East St. Louis.

Past president of the American Legion District 22 Auxiliary, she had been a member of American Legion Auxiliary 961 in Fairmont City and was active in St. Clair County Salon 148 of the 8 and 40, the Illinois 8 and 40, CSA Eastland Lodge 404 and the Fairmont City Slovenian Club.

Survivors include her husband, James Menendez; two daughters, Mrs. Lawrence (Cynthia M.) Yob of Granite City and Mrs. Gerald (Sandra L.) Seger of Belleville; one son, Jaime J. Menendez of Belleville; one brother, Joseph Norris of Granite City; seven grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

Visitation will begin at 6 p.m. today at Kasson Colonial Mortuary, 900 St. Clair Ave., Fairview Heights, and will resume there at 4 p.m. Friday, with a wake service beginning at 5 p.m. Friday. Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday at the funeral home, with the Rev. James A. Buerster officiating. Burial will be at St. John's Cemetery in Collinsville.

The family suggests that, in lieu of flowers, memorials be made to Holy Rosary Church in Fairmont City.

Simmons

Mabel R. (Mardis) Simmons, 89, of Madison died at 8:20 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 12, 1990, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. She had been ill since July and in the hospital from Aug. 5.

Born Dec. 30, 1900, in Grand Glaise, Ark., Mrs. Simmons resided in Madison for 39 years. Her husband, William R. Simmons, died on June 22, 1973.

Mrs. Simmons was a member of the Word of Life Tabernacle Church, the American Association of Retired Persons and the North American Retired Federal Employees Chapter 1067.

Among the survivors are a daughter, Sylvia Malski of Granite City; two sons, William Melvin Simmons of Springfield, Mo., and Ralph Simmons of Lansing, Mich.; four sisters, Lucille Turner of Pasadena, Calif., Pauline Taylor of Houston, Texas, Zola Broder of Heber Springs, Ark., and Katherine Wellman of Red Bud; 16 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren.

Arrangements are pending at Irwin Chapel. Friends may call 931-8000 for details.

Petrus

Donna Lee (Minks) Petrus, 47, of Edwardsville, formerly of Venice, was pronounced dead at 2:20 a.m. today, Sept. 12, 1990, by Madison County Deputy Coroner Randall Irwin.

Mrs. Petrus had been ill four years and died at the home of a relative in Granite City.

Born on July 25, 1943, in Venice, Mrs. Petrus resided in Venice until moving to Edwardsville 18 years ago. She was of the Protestant faith.

She was employed as a clerical worker at Washington University, St. Louis, for the past five years and was a member of the Royal Neighbors of America.

Among the survivors are a son, John Petrus Jr. of Edwardsville; a daughter, Dawn Petrus of Edwardsville; two brothers, Ted and Tim Hendricks, both of Granite City; and an aunt, Doris Stengel of Granite City.

A brother, Robert Charles Minks, preceded her in death.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Irwin Chapel, 3960 Maryville Road, where friends may call 931-8000 for details. The family requests memorials to the American Cancer Society.

Mick Henkhaus aide decries opposition's 'personal surs'

By John Milazzo
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — A spokesman for Madison County Treasurer Michael "Mick" Henkhaus, defended the opposition's "personal attacks" against Henkhaus during his campaign for re-election.

The latest such attack cites Henkhaus' use of campaign funds to purchase Cardinal baseball season tickets.

Henkhaus, the Democratic incumbent, was on vacation and could not be reached on criticism by John Shimkus of Collinsville, his Republican rival in the November general election.

However, Henkhaus' deputy treasurer, Jim Velkiss, defended the expenditure of about $1,700 in campaign contributions over each of the last three years for baseball season tickets as a "common practice" among elected officials.

Dispensing the tickets "is a way of repaying in some way the efforts of many of his campaign workers," Velkiss said.

"Also, some of the tickets have been given to the Bethalto Boys Club and to senior citizens' organizations as good-will gestures."

Velkiss said such spending is not illegal.

He added that a figure of 62 percent of the campaign fund spent for tickets over the past year "seems high until you consider that the fund only had $2,856 in it."

In a press release circulated Tuesday, Shimkus said, "This highlights the difference between my opponent and me. Raising money is difficult and the people who support me want my money to go toward my election, not my own personal enjoyment."

"This big-money spending to influence high officials and/or contributors smacks at cronyism," Shimkus said.

"I will not defraud my supporters by using their contributions for Cardinal season tickets," Velkiss said.

But Velkiss complained that in a string of recent campaign press conferences and news releases, Shimkus has been unable to point to any official wrongdoing and has instead relied on personal slurs.

"And every time he does it, he's saving himself a lot of money. It's great advertising for him and it doesn't cost him a dime," Velkiss said.

Quayle visits on mission of thanks

By Liz Quirin
Staff writer

BELLEVILLE — It was a mission of thanks.

Vice President Dan Quayle arrived at Scott Air Force Base near Belleville on Tuesday morning to greet the military and civilian personnel and the families of military men and women deployed in the Middle East, and to thank them.

"Scott Air Force Base has a critical role and a critical mission to perform for us in the Persian Gulf, and I'm here to salute you," Quayle told a crowd of about 2,000 military and civilian personnel and family members.

Susan Zollmann paid close attention to what Quayle had to say because she had just received word that her husband, Capt. Paul Zollmann, would go to the Middle East later in September.

"I appreciate him coming,"

Zollmann said.

She said she brought her two children, Mathew, 12, and Elaine, 11, to hear Quayle because she wanted them to have a special patriotic memory.

Quayle commended the Military Airlift Command and the U.S. Transportation Command, both headquartered at Scott.

The Transportation Command has already airlifted 5 billion pounds of materials and men to the Persian Gulf, Quayle said.

"It's like moving South Bend, Ind., to the Persian Gulf," he remarked.

The MAC has logged 79,000 flight hours in over 13,000 flights, Quayle said.

He commended the Air Force Communications Command, also headquartered at Scott, for continuing to do a good job setting up and maintaining communications in support of Operation Desert Shield.

"I want to pay special tribute to spouses, children and friends of those in the Persian Gulf," Quayle said.

"It is through their efforts that America is still a strong nation."

Col. Robert J. Boots, commander of the 375th Military Airlift Wing at Scott, said Quayle's visit was great because he met the families of the people serving in the Middle East.

Quayle told students in the audience from area junior and senior high schools that they would be part of the first generation to grow up and not be challenged by the Cold War.

"Even though there's no Cold War, the world is still a dangerous place," he said.

After his six-minute speech, Quayle toured MAC headquarters and then left for a Missouri Republican fund-raising luncheon at Adam's Mark Hotel in St. Louis.

Echols said all three had made similar proposals to build a hotel and other businesses on the riverfront. By state statute, Venice would also get $1 for each gambler picked up in Venice.

based on the faulty forecasts. Heat schedules call for an early start and an early end to the school day.

In Granite City, the normal schedule should resume next Tuesday. In Marion District 12, Superintendent Dan Kostencik said the schedule would resume next Monday.

Following is the heat schedule:

Granite City will continue to follow its schedule through Monday, Sept. 17. Schedules are:

"All of the elementary schools, 8:05 a.m. to 1:40 p.m.

"Granite City High School, 7 a.m. to 1 p.m.

"Coolidge Junior High School, 7 a.m. to 1 p.m.

"Crisp Junior High School (an air-conditioned building), 8:55 a.m. to 2:55 p.m.

"All elementary bus passenger pickups begin one-half hour earlier than normal."

All Granite City High School and Coolidge bus pickups start one hour earlier than normal.

Grisby Junior High bus pickups begin one-half hour later than usual.

Madison will continue to follow its heat schedule through Friday, Sept. 14. The Madison class schedules are:

"Madison High School, 6:55 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

"Madison Middle School, 7:25 a.m. to 1:10 p.m.

"We looked around," Black said. "We needed a stable work force and an area where the people wanted us. The people of Granite City and Madison County have just been extraordinary in their efforts."

Black said the plant initially would employ about 100 people and eventually may employ from 150 to 200. There is ample room for expansion on the 8.5-acre site, he said.

Holy Family troop has busy summer

Boy Scout Troop 103 of Holy Family Parish enjoyed a busy summer with several activities and special events.

While at Camp Sunnen in June, the troop members built a fire ring at the Hooks Barrier-Free Campsite. The fire ring will enable Scouts confined to wheelchairs to build and clean-up their own campfires.

Adult leaders and scouts constructing the ring included: Tom Cruse, Jim Dittman, Michael Halbrook, Woody Halbrook, Mark Hewlett, Tom Hewlett, Terry Kelahan and Mike Patton. Fire bricks were donated by Richards Brick of Edwardsville. While at the camp, the local Scouts also started a walkway constructed of creek stone at the Sunnen Memorial. Adults and scouts participating were: Ken Atkins, Tom Cruse, Jim Dittman, Mark Dittman, Greg Edwards, Michael Halbrook, Woody Halbrook, Mark Hewlett, John Haug, John Haug Jr., Joe Huff, Matt Kelahan, Terry Kelahan, Danny Luskic, Jason Nesbit and Mike Patton.

The walkway was completed in July by Michael Halbrook and Mark Hewlett as a work project for their Order of the Arrow.

Troop members held a fishing tournament on Aug. 7 and 8 at the Washington County Conservation Area. Qualifying for a fishing merit badge: Ken Atkins, Tom Cruse, Mark Dittman, Greg Edwards, John Haug, Mark Hewlett, Matt Kelahan, Robert Lampitt and Jason Nesbit.

A first and second place trophy were awarded to each patrol. Patrol winners included: Flaming Arrows — Mark Hewlett, first place, and Matt Kelahan, second; Dragon Patrol — Ken Atkins, first place, and Robert Lampitt, second; and Old Guys Patrol (adults) — Tom Hewlett, first place, and Woody Halbrook, second.

Others participating were: Mike Patton, who earned his merit badge earlier, and Joe Huff. Qualifying also was Michael Halbrook, who was fishing outside the troop activity.

Sometimes a property owner will begin performing tasks which were not previously undertaken by him. For instance, a grocery store owner may instruct his employees to begin helping customers carry their bags of groceries to their cars, or a landlord may begin to clear sidewalks of ice and snow on a regular basis. Even though he had never performed this task in the past, the question arises as to whether the owner of the premises is responsible for injuries sustained by a patron when the voluntary tasks are not performed in a given situation.

In one recent case, three individuals owned a building in Evanston, Illinois. The building had a revolving door, and the elevator operator customarily assisted the elderly and disabled through this revolving door. In 1982, a 77-year-old woman was leaving the building through the revolving door. The elevator operator did not assist her in this instance because he was standing in the lobby drinking a soda pop and looking away from the door.

As the elderly woman stepped out of the revolving door, an unidentified person ran into the door. The door moved rapidly and hit the woman in the back, knocking her to the ground. She suffered a severe fracture of the thigh bone and a broken finger. She remained in the hospital for three months, which included six weeks in traction. She spent another two months in the nursing home. As a result of the injury, her left leg was two inches shorter than the right leg.

The plaintiff in this case brought a negligence action against the building owners. The issue in this case is whether the defendant had voluntarily assumed a duty to assist elderly people through the revolving doors based on the job description of the elevator operator. There was no question that the operators normally assisted the elderly through the doors and that they failed to perform that task in this situation.

The Appellate Court ruled for the defendants. Even though the elevator operators customarily assisted the elderly building patrons, they had no duty to assist them. The woman went through the revolving doors without attempting to seek assistance from the elevator operator. Furthermore, she was neither disabled nor handicapped. Since using the revolving door did not expose her to an unreasonable risk of harm, the Court refused to impose a duty to act where voluntary tasks had previously been undertaken to improve public services.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO

MADISON COUNTY RESIDENTS

IF YOUR HOUSEHOLD WAS PLACED ON THE 12% REAPP PLAN LAST WINTER, TO REMAIN ON THE PLAN, YOU MUST RECERTIFY DURING THE PERIOD OF SEPTEMBER 1, 1990 - OCTOBER 26, 1990.

If you do not submit a recertification application by October 26, 1990 your household will be dropped from the Plan. Also, failure to recertify will result in your having to pay your whole bill this winter.

Recertification is an income eligibility check to determine if the household remains income-eligible to receive REAPP benefits. Approval of a recertification informs the households and the utilities that the household is eligible to participate if it has fulfilled program obligations.

To recertify, you must contact your Local Township or Agency where you applied last year for an appointment.

When you go to complete your recertification application, bring proof of the household's last 30 days' income, your latest utility bills and proof of social security cards.

Persons having general questions regarding the REAPP 12% Recertification Period, may contact the Madison County Community Development Energy Assistance Office at (618) 692-6200, Ext. 5105 or the State of Illinois Energy Hotline at (1-800) 252-8643.

Warriors beat Lincoln for 1st time

Section B
THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1990
GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

By Mike Kelly
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — Last season the Warrior cross country team had personal goals in mind. That was accomplished with a strong showing at the Edwardsville Regional. Carrying the momentum of that experience into the off-season, Dave McClain's squad set its sights on bigger things this year.

Reaching the state meet in Peoria has been the battle cry ever since practice began in mid-August. That dream seems a little closer to reality following a victory Tuesday at the Tiger Classic at SUE. The Warriors, getting a solid performance from their top five runners, squeaked out a three-point (65-68) victory over perennial powerhouse East St. Louis Lincoln.

It's the first time under the direction of McClain that the Warriors have ever won a meet (boys or girls) against Lincoln. The Tigers had dominated the Warriors and the rest of the field in the Granite City Invitational less than two weeks ago.

"I'm very proud of our kids," said McClain. "They fought off the heat and this difficult course to post a great victory. I expected us to finish among the top three, but in no way did I expect us to win the entire meet. It's a great victory and something we can build on for the rest of the season."

The hilly course proved to be a worthy ally. While the Tigers placed three runners in the top 10, their fourth and fifth runners (Dorian Jones and Sherrell McNeil) struggled and finished 18th and 28th, respectively.

"The hilly course just took its toll on our runners," said Lincoln coach Leonard Manley. "Our top three runners — Maurice Dotson, Eric Logan and Eddie Bonner — ran the course very well, but our fourth and fifth runners couldn't pace themselves on the hills, and it hurt our team score. I blame that on coaching."

"But that's no excuse. Give Granite City credit. They've done a tremendous job with their program. A lot of programs are tired of seeing the orange and black on top. These teams are out to prove a few things." Lance Reynolds led a balanced attack for the Warriors with his fifth-place overall finish (18:29). He was followed by Justin Stallings, who crossed the finish line in eighth place (18:39); Brian Seitz (11th, 18:49); and Brian Reed (13th, 18:55). The fifth runner, Mark Chapman, finished 28th in 19:33.

"We're not in peak condition yet," said McClain. "But the whole team ran very well today, and we needed that type of effort to knock off Lincoln. The boys came into the meet with a good attitude and they weren't going to roll over and play dead for anyone."

"I was a little surprised we beat them, but we really wanted to get Lincoln," said Stallings. "Now we know that Lincoln isn't invincible. Our goal is to reach the state meet. We worked our tails off during the summer to get a jump on the season."

"We knew what to expect here," said Reynolds. "This is a demanding course, especially on the second mile when you encounter the third and fourth hills. Pacing yourself is important."

"Our timing was very good today," said McClain. "There was only a one-minute difference between our first runner and our fifth runner. We're closing the gap, but there's still a long way to go. As long as we keep building on this effort and get ourselves in shape, both mentally and physically, we'll be in good shape by mid-season."

NOTES: Jennifer Winfield of Granite City finished in 28th place (19:16) in the girls race. Brittany Johnson of Lebanon won the girls race by completing the two-mile course in 15:53. Lincoln won the girls meet with 49 points. Wally Gregory of Civic Memorial won the boys race by completing the three-mile course in 16:56.

'Jimmy Mac' leads Warriors into first

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

BELLEVILLE — One of the classic Motown songs of the 1960s featured the line "Jimmy Mac, when are you coming back?" The Warrior soccer team got a pleasant answer to that question Tuesday.

Senior Jim McKechnan saw his first action of the season in a first-place showdown with the Belleville East Lancers. After sitting out a three-game suspension, McKechnan responded with a goal and an assist as Granite City improved to 4-1 with a 3-1 win over East.

The Warriors took over sole possession of first place in the Southwestern Conference with a 3-0 league mark. The Lancers fell to 2-1 in league play and 2-2 overall.

"Jimmy Mac gave us a big lift," said Warrior coach Gene Baker. "We were really missing a player of his abilities in the earlier games. He was a factor in all three segments of the field today."

Although the Warriors generally dominated the first quarter, they came out of the first 20 minutes trailing 1-0. East's David Knollhoff opened the scoring at 14:33 on a rebound. Warrior keeper Brad O'Neill couldn't smother a rebound of Cam Pimzke's free kick. After a scramble, Knollhoff picked up a rebound and buried it.

That was the Lancer's last hurrah. Baker replaced O'Neill with Tim Henson in the second quarter, but East never really threatened again as Granite City outshot the home team 19-2. The Warriors wasted little time taking command in the second quarter.

McKechnan had Granite City's best chance in the first quarter when he grazed the crossbar. Just 43 seconds into the second stanza, he made a perfect crossing pass to Dan Terrell, who moved in from the left wing and beat Lancer keeper Bryan White with a crisp shot to the lower right corner.

The Warriors were buzzing around the Lancer goal a few minutes later when Terrell scored again, but Jay Robertson was trapped offside to nullify that score. No matter. Just a few seconds later, McKechnan's left-footer wasn't exactly a lazer, but it was placed well and bounced in off the left post at 28:59.

"Gene obviously must have had some inspirational words for his kids after the first quarter," said East coach Phil Aleman.

"We expect more out of them than we got in the first quarter," Baker said. "Belleville East is physical and a very good team. I don't think we were looking past them to CBC (tonight). But like this team has been a tough one to

Jeff Stephens added an insurance goal just 1:51 into the third quarter when he made like Bobby Orr, taking the ball at mid-field and weaving brilliantly through four defenders before chipping the ball past a sprawling White.

East gives Warriors volleyball clinic

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — Belleville East turned its volleyball match on Tuesday into a clinic as the Lancers schooled the Warriors 15-5, 15-5.

Amy Hearn acted as professor of serving as she piled up 11 points, including the last nine of the first game, turning a close 6-4 game into a rout.

"Amy played a super all-around game," said Lancer coach Gayle Klitzing, whose team improved to 5-4. "She did an incredible job serving and her defense and passing were great."

Mario Pecoraro, a 6-2 senior, conducted Spiking 101 for the Warriors (0-3). She had only three offensive kills, but more importantly stopped several Granite City comeback attempts with her dominating play at the net.

"Belleville played well everywhere," said Warrior coach Natalie Buster. "Pecoraro got my vote for all-conference."

Granite City continues to have problems staying close after performing well early in games. The Lancers scored 11 of the last 12 points in the first game after a 4-4 tie. Two of East's losses have come to small school powerhouses: Mater Dei and Breese Central.

"We haven't played well so far this year," said Klitzing. "We're starting to come together and we're gaining confidence to come from behind."

The Warriors are showing signs of improving individually, but haven't clicked as a team yet.

"They know they haven't played their best," said Buster. "They haven't shown their best volleyball yet, but when they come together we'll win."

Buster hopes the early experience against quality teams like East and Edwardsville pays off. "The effort and the ability are there," she said. "I've got the 10 best varsity players in Granite City. Now it's just a matter of putting it all together."

Jennifer Harris led the Warriors with three points and two aces. The JV took East to three games before bowing 4-5, 15-11, 7-15. The win in the middle game was the first for Granite City this week.

"I couldn't be prouder of my JV girls," said Buster. "They played a great match tonight."

Hood, Maroons struggling out of starting gate

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

Dick Hood is used to winning. But it hasn't happened yet for him in his newest job.

Hood is the first-year coach at Belleville West, whom the Warrior football team will face Friday in a 7:30 p.m. Southwestern Conference game at Belleville Township Stadium. Hantoul (Ill.) High School was a big winner in Hood's 13 seasons at the helm, but he's off to an 0-2 start with the Maroons, who were 6-3 a year ago before long-time coach Bruce Arnold was not rehired. Those who clamored for Arnold's scalp might not be making much noise now.

"We're just not very good at blocking or tackling yet," said Hood. "And that's the game of football. There are a lot of juniors on the varsity and I really don't believe most of them have made the adjustment yet from sophomore to varsity football."

The Maroons lost 24-12 to CBC in the first week and then were handed a 29-6 loss by Cahokia last Friday. That's what concerns Hood as he prepares for the conference opener with the 2-0 Warriors. Granite City beat Cahokia 21-7 two weeks ago. "CBC is a very good team and Cahokia just had too much quickness for us," Hood said. "But Granite City was able to control their speed. We were able to see that game because we didn't play until Saturday that week. What really impressed me about Granite City was how they responded when Cahokia scored to make it

Tennis team beats CM and Roxana

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

After 4-3 victories over Civic Memorial on Monday and Roxana on Tuesday, the Warrior tennis team took a 4-2 record into Wednesday's match at McCluer North.

Against Roxana, coach Allen Lobell juggled his lineup, putting Hollie Taylor at No. 3 singles and teaming Addie Lenzi with Amy Isenberg at No. 1 doubles for the first time. The moves worked as Taylor defeated Cindy Volting 7-5, 6-2 while Lenzi and Isenberg topped Julia Henderson and Andrea Kwas 6-0, 6-3. Also posting wins Tuesday were Kristi Holsinger (6-1, 6-3 over Lisa Spano) and Nikki Petrillo (6-3, 6-1 over Kobe Daubenspeck). Jennifer Jones and Jill Hunter of Roxana beat Nicole Zelenka and Tara Wyatt 6-0, 6-3; while Emily Burk and Lisa Laurent topped the Warriors' Missy Sammons and Jody Forister 6-1, 6-2. Kerry Harris got Roxana's only singles win by a 6-4, 6-2 count over Jennifer Hitt.

Victors against CM were Holsinger (6-4, 6-0), Petrillo (6-3, 6-1), Hitt (6-3, 6-3) and the Taylor-Lenzi tandem (2-6, 6-1, 6-2).

Golf

Granite City took second in a four-team meet Tuesday in Roxana to improve to 7-5 on the season.

The Warriors' total of 168 was nine strokes behind O'Fallon, which was led by Josh Reed's 37. Mascoutah took third with a 171 and Roxana trailed the field at 183. For Granite City, Junior Joe Brewer led the way with a 41. Bill McCormick and Chris Sturdivant fired 42s and Allen Ledbetter rounded out the field with a 43.

GC's Roach racing in Godfrey Friday

GRANITE CITY — Tad Roach of Granite City, a rookie on the outlaw sprint car circuit, will compete Friday at the final race of the season at Godfrey Speedway.

Roach has raced go-karts, street stock cars and modified race cars before going to the high-powered outlaw sprints this summer. He has been racing at the St. Francis County Speedway in Farmington, Mo., as well as Godfrey and is currently sixth in points against some very tough competition.

Extra money will be up for grabs in Friday's race in the sprint cars, U.M.P. econo late model stocks, street stocks and Bomber cars. Godfrey Speedway is owned and promoted by ex-driver and former Granite City resident Wib Spaulding. The track is at Highway 111 and Highway 67 about six miles north of Alton.

a 14-7 game. They kept their composure and came right back to score. I expect Granite City to play another solid game Friday.

The Maroons were led last year by quarterback Dan Bieglar and monster tight end/linebacker Jeff Hasenstahl, both of whom have graduated. This year the quarterback is Joel Sigman. Hood likes to throw the ball close to 20 times a game, and Sigman's targets include Jason Betz, Mike Hartoin and Ryan Burks. The running game is led by Kevin Rumph and Steve Burrows. Betz, Burks and Burrows are the impact players on defense, but not much has come together for West yet.

"There have been a lot of disappointments so far," said Hood. "There is some complexity in our offense, and we're not protecting our quarterback. I think Sigman can be a very good one. But I think we're starting to show a little more toughness."

"I know Belleville West has a lot of formations, so there is a lot of formations, so there is a lot of formations, so there is a lot of formations," said Hood. "I know Belleville West has a lot of formations, so there is a lot of formations, so there is a lot of formations."

Indeed, Hood's system has close to 20 formations and even the fans are sure how many plays are in the playbook. But it still comes down to the basics.

"Someone out there has to be blocking and tackling," he said. "We have to do both better. That's it in a nutshell. Right now we're not a very good football team. It comes down to me, the players, everything else. But it's not because we don't work at it. We work our tail off. And we're going to work hard at it this week."

"It's the conference opener, so that should get our guys fired up. And it's the first time Granite City has had to travel for game this year, so maybe we can get some advantage."

NOTES: The Madison Trojans

(0-2), licking their wounds from a 63-6 pasting handed them in the home opener Friday by Columbia, take the week off. Pittsfield, the third-week opponent the last two years, is off the schedule and the Trojans were unable to find a substitute. They tried to schedule Johnston City of the Black Diamond Conference in deep Southern Illinois, but had no luck. Madison resumes play with a home game against Brees Central on Sept. 21.

ly getting our depth back. We'll know about Larry Strader (knee) very soon. Once we get him back we should be all there."

NOTES: Rankings are fun to look at, but shouldn't be taken too seriously. For example, the Warriors are fifth in the Journal coaches poll, which covers the entire St. Louis area. Yet they are ranked sixth nationally by the National Soccer Coaches Association. "Tough area," Baker said with a laugh. Vianney is first in the Journal poll and second in the national poll, yet the Warriors beat the Griffins 1-0 two weeks ago.

CBC is third in the Journal poll with a 2-1-2 record. The Cadets were ranked No. 1 nationally for a while a year ago.

"I saw all those teams in the CBC tournament last week," Baker said of CBC, Vianney, DeMet and SLUH. "CBC awfully good and skilled. And they have two players on the (Under 18) national team in (Bill) Baumhoff and (Chris) Santel."

CBC — Baker's alma mater — is on Clayton Road off Highway 40 just past Forest Park. JV action begins at 5:30 p.m. The Cadets won a 3-0 game in Granite City last year. The Warriors then host Quincy, which went to the state tournament a year ago, on Saturday (JV at 11 a.m.).

GCAHA registration Saturday

The last major registration date for boys and girls who wish to play in the Granite City Amateur Ice Hockey Association is Saturday.

Registration will be held from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Wilson Park Ice Rink. Because of league rules which require a player to be registered at least two weeks prior to skating, parents are encouraged to register players on this date.

Teams are organized by age and skill level. A player's age on Dec. 31 determines which age category he or she is eligible for the entire season. Levels are Mini Mite (7 or younger), Mite (9 or younger), Squirt (11 or younger), PeeWee (13 or younger), Bantam (15 or younger) and Midget (17 or younger).

There is also a Learn To Play Hockey program offered for boys and girls just starting from ages 5-9.

Steelers teams are members of the Missouri Amateur Ice Hockey Association and play teams from Affton, Creve Coeur, Kirkwood, Webster Groves, Valley (North County), Meramec (South County), Cahokia and Springfield, Ill. Practices begin the second week of October. The league schedule begins after Thanksgiving and ends the first week of March.

Working in O'Fallon

Diana (Tindall) Ryan of Granite City graduated on Aug. 16 from Southern Illinois University in Edwardsville with a bachelor of science degree. She majored in mathematics and minored in business.

During her college career, Ryan was honored with membership in Phi Kappa Phi, Pi Mu Epsilon and Kappa Delta Pi honor societies.

She has been on the national dean's list every year while attending SIUE, and received the Florence Fanning Award from the SIUE mathematics department for her work during student teaching.

Ryan has been employed by O'Fallon Township High School, where she will be developing a new program in discrete mathematics.

SIUE to offer class on classics

A non-credit course in classic Hollywood films will be taught at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville this fall.

Sponsored by the Office of Continuing Education, classes will meet Tuesdays from 7 to 10 p.m. in Lovejoy Library auditorium, beginning Oct. 9 and continuing through Nov. 6. Registration is $20.

Instructor Peter Bukalski said the class will study American films made in the "classic" era, between the 1930s and the 1950s.

The class will have a hand in choosing which films are shown, and what discussions will cover. The course will include viewing classic films, followed by in-depth discussions of the Hollywood film industry and its personalities.

Further information may be obtained from the SIUE Office of Continuing Education at 692-3210.

Bukalski is a member of the School of Fine Arts and Communications faculty at SIUE.

13 admitted

Thirteen students have been admitted into the Dean's College at SIUE-Edwardsville, an undergraduate honors program.

Students must be outstanding freshmen, sophomores or juniors with a 4.5 or better grade point average and recommended by five of their teachers.

Students included, from Granite City: Susan Burmeister and Eric J. Ryterski.

FLEET EXPANSION: Bill Houser, owner of Houser Automotive, peels the backing off the lettering "The work force" on the newest truck in his fleet. The 1991 Freightliner has a 425-horsepower engine, a 13-speed transmission and a 70-inch sleeping berth. Below, the new truck hooked up and ready to go to one of the 48 contiguous states that Houser Automotive serves. The Houser fleet consists of seven tractors and 21 trailers for the transportation of auto parts and related items.

Slight dip in pay raise trend

The average planned general pay increase to be given to office staff members during the third quarter of 1990 is 4.2 percent.

This was down slightly from the 4.7 percent average general increase given during the second quarter, according to the Management Association's quarterly Pay Adjustment Survey.

Less than 1 percent of the 232 participating firms were currently affected by a pay freeze affecting their shop or office staff.

Only 3.8 percent of the firms have laid off office staff in the past six months, and only 3 percent are currently laid off.

I'd Give Anything If I Could Play Like That.

Take a lesson today, play a song tonight.

Schnucks uses recycled fiber for paper sacks

Schnucks paper sacks now are made from 100 percent recycled paper fibers instead of the virgin paper formerly used on the sacks. The new sack meets Food and Drug Administration requirements for materials that come in direct contact with food products.

"These new bags enable us to continue working toward our company's environmental goals to reduce, reuse and recycle whenever possible," said Scott Schnuck, executive vice president of Schnuck Markets Inc.

"Using bags made from 100 percent recycled fibers means less paper is being placed in landfills, and using recycled paper also reduces the amount of energy required for the pulping process."

The company also offers customers recyclable plastic bags, which are collected from customers in recycling containers at the front of every Schnucks store.
